Weekly Gospel Reflection Reflexión semanal del evangelio

In many important ways, John's Gospel uses the miracle of the multiplication of the loaves and fishes to teach about the Eucharist. Like the Last Supper, this miracle is said to have occurred near the time of the Jewish feast of Passover. (In John's Gospel three Passovers are identified.) Jesus' language is similar to the language he used at the Last Supper as reported in the Synoptic Gospels. John's description of this event also anticipates the Messianic banquet of heaven, as the crowd reclines and all hungers are satisfied with abundance. This connection is further amplified by the response of the crowd, who wants to make Jesus a king. John is teaching us that each time we celebrate the Eucharist, we are anticipating the eternal banquet of heaven.

Recall that John's Gospel tells the story of the Last Supper differently than the Synoptic Gospels. Instead of describing the meal and Jesus' actions with the bread and cup, John describes how Jesus washed his disciples' feet. We hear this Gospel when we remember the Last Supper on Holy Thursday. This recollection of Jesus' action at the Last Supper complements the institution narrative of the Synoptic Gospels and Paul's Letters that we hear repeated at each Mass.

In both stories about the Eucharist—the washing of the disciples' feet and the multiplication of the loaves and the fishes—the Gospel of John teaches us that the Eucharist is an action. Our word Eucharist is taken from the Greek language and describes an action: "to give thanks." In the Eucharist we are fed by Jesus himself, and we are sent to serve others.

John's Gospel notes the detail that the bread blessed and shared with the crowd are barley loaves. This is the food of the poor. It reminds us that God feeds and nourishes us, fulfilling our physical needs as well as our spiritual ones. In the Eucharist, we are sent to serve the poorest among us.

The story of the multiplication of the loaves and the fishes recalls a particular aspect of the Mass. In this miracle, Jesus transforms a young boy's offering of five barley loaves and two fish. In the offertory at Mass, we present the fruits of our labors, represented by bread and wine. These gifts, given to us first by God as grain and fruit, are returned to God in our offering of thanksgiving. God in turn transforms our gifts, making this bread and wine the very Body and Blood of Jesus. We also offer ourselves in this exchange, and we, too, are transformed by the Eucharist.

De muchas maneras importantes, el Evangelio de Juan utiliza el milagro de la multiplicación de los panes y los peces para enseñar acerca de la Eucaristía. Al igual que la Última Cena, se dice que este milagro ocurrió cerca del tiempo de la fiesta judía de la Pascua. (En el Evangelio de Juan se identifican tres Pascuas). El lenguaje de Jesús es similar al lenguaje que usó en la Última Cena, como se informa en los Evangelios sinópticos. La descripción que hace Juan de este evento también anticipa el banquete mesiánico del cielo, cuando la multitud se reclina y todos los hambres son saciadas con abundancia. Esta conexión se ve amplificada aún más por la respuesta de la multitud, que quiere hacer de Jesús rey. Juan nos está enseñando que cada vez que celebramos la Eucaristía, anticipamos el banquete eterno del cielo.

Recuerde que el Evangelio de Juan cuenta la historia de la Última Cena de manera diferente a los Evangelios sinópticos. En lugar de describir la comida y las acciones de Jesús con el pan y la copa, Juan describe cómo Jesús lavó los pies de sus discípulos. Escuchamos este Evangelio cuando recordamos la Última Cena del Jueves Santo. Este recuerdo de la acción de Jesús en la Última Cena complementa la narrativa institucional de los Evangelios sinópticos y las Cartas de Pablo que escuchamos repetidas en cada Misa.

En ambas historias sobre la Eucaristía—el lavado de los pies de los discípulos y la multiplicación de los panes y los peces— el Evangelio de Juan nos enseña que la Eucaristía es una acción. Nuestra palabra Eucaristía está tomada del idioma griego y describe una acción: "dar gracias". En la Eucaristía somos alimentados por el mismo Jesús y somos enviados a servir a los demás.

El Evangelio de Juan señala el detalle de que el pan bendecido y compartido con la multitud son panes de cebada. Esta es la comida de los pobres. Nos recuerda que Dios nos alimenta y nutre, satisfaciendo nuestras necesidades físicas así como las espirituales. En la Eucaristía somos enviados a servir a los más pobres entre nosotros.

La historia de la multiplicación de los panes y los peces recuerda un aspecto particular de la Misa. En este milagro, Jesús transforma la ofrenda de un niño de cinco panes de cebada y dos peces. En el ofertorio de la Misa presentamos los frutos de nuestro trabajo, representados por el pan y el vino. Estos regalos, que Dios nos dio primero como grano y fruto, se devuelven a Dios en nuestra ofrenda de acción de gracias. Dios a su vez transforma nuestros dones, haciendo de este pan y vino el mismo Cuerpo y Sangre de Jesús. Nosotros también nos ofrecemos en este intercambio y también nosotros somos transformados por la Eucaristía.
